

POSTPONED

Please join the U.S. Department of Labor Women's Bureau and the Latino and Puerto Rican Affairs Commission for an important Listening Session on the issues facing Immigrant Women Workers in Connecticut. The work of immigrant workers contributes to the economy by caring for children, the sick, the elderly, providing services to individuals with disabilities, and assisting in managing the complexities of a home.

Immigrant laborers work in an "industry" with few state and federal guidelines, standards, and safeguards and no educated knowledge of these rules. The Listening Session is an opportunity to express your thoughts about the working conditions and challenges of these vital, yet vulnerable, workers to address these issues. What skills do they lack to move forward in the present economy?
